

The Academy of Medical Laboratory Science

Code of Conduct

Members of the Academy of Medical Laboratory Science should:

- Uphold the dignity and reputation of the profession of Medical Laboratory Science.
- Exercise the highest standards of professional skill and judgement and utilise best practice in the execution of their professional duties to ensure the highest quality of service to patients at all times.
- Fulfil their professional duties with fairness and integrity and with full regard of the needs of colleagues and employers.
- Have regard, in the exercise of their professional duties, of the need for safe work practices and compliance with Health and Safety legislation.
- Respect the confidentiality of information they have access to, while having regard to the requirements of the Freedom of Information Act.
- Maintain and enhance their professional competence by improving and updating their professional knowledge and skill.
- Undertake to promote the recognition of the important role of the profession in the provision of a quality healthcare service.
- Recognise their commitment to the development of their profession by contributing to the education and training of their colleagues and other health care staff.