Members Home

You are now logged in to the members area of the Academy's CPD site.

In this area you are able to undertake a number of activities from something as basic as a details and/or your password to creating a Personal Development Plan (PDP) using My PDP. You will also be able to plan your Continuous Professional Development and capture the time spent. This information can then be extracted for other purposes. This could be for your annual CPD discussion with your Laboratory Manager, or if you are requested by CORU for evidence for your CPD Audit by the Academy.

Remember this is your section as a member and the user name and password restricts access. You are in control of what is entered into any report that the site produces and who it is sent to. It is available to the recipient.

Please note that the Academy is using the launch of the new member's area as a means of recording. It is therefore important that you review the Professional Details page and either your Laboratory Discipline and Position.

- You are now in the members area and have access to all the ACSLM activities accessed through the panel on the left "My Portfolio" which gives access to the full ACSLM CPD system.
- The top navigation bar: Members Area: members CPD webinar videos, CPD of the Month + other functions, Converse publications, MCQ's to mention a few.
